Dedication

Owen A. Emmons

The sweetest path of life leads through the avenues of learning, and whoever can open up the way for another, ought, so far, to be esteemed as a benefactor of mankind.

David Hume

From the progressive present comes a plea for educators — men and women devoted to the development of the nation's youth. During the years following its opening in 1929, Cooley has been served by such an educator. Therefore, we gratefully dedicate this edition of the Castellan to our principal, Owen A. Emmons, upon his retirement. Through his efforts, Cooley has developed traditions of high distinction among Detroit high schools: high scholastic achievement, a healthy quality of athletic accomplishments, and an ever-increasing cultural influence. With great pride, Mr. Emmons can recall his years at Cooley for he has consistently maintained faith in his students to learn and confidence in his faculty to teach them. He has quietly guided all phases of the high school program with a firm and gentle hand.

We reluctantly say farewell to him, but we do sincerely thank him. We wish him a most fruitful and enjoyable retirement.

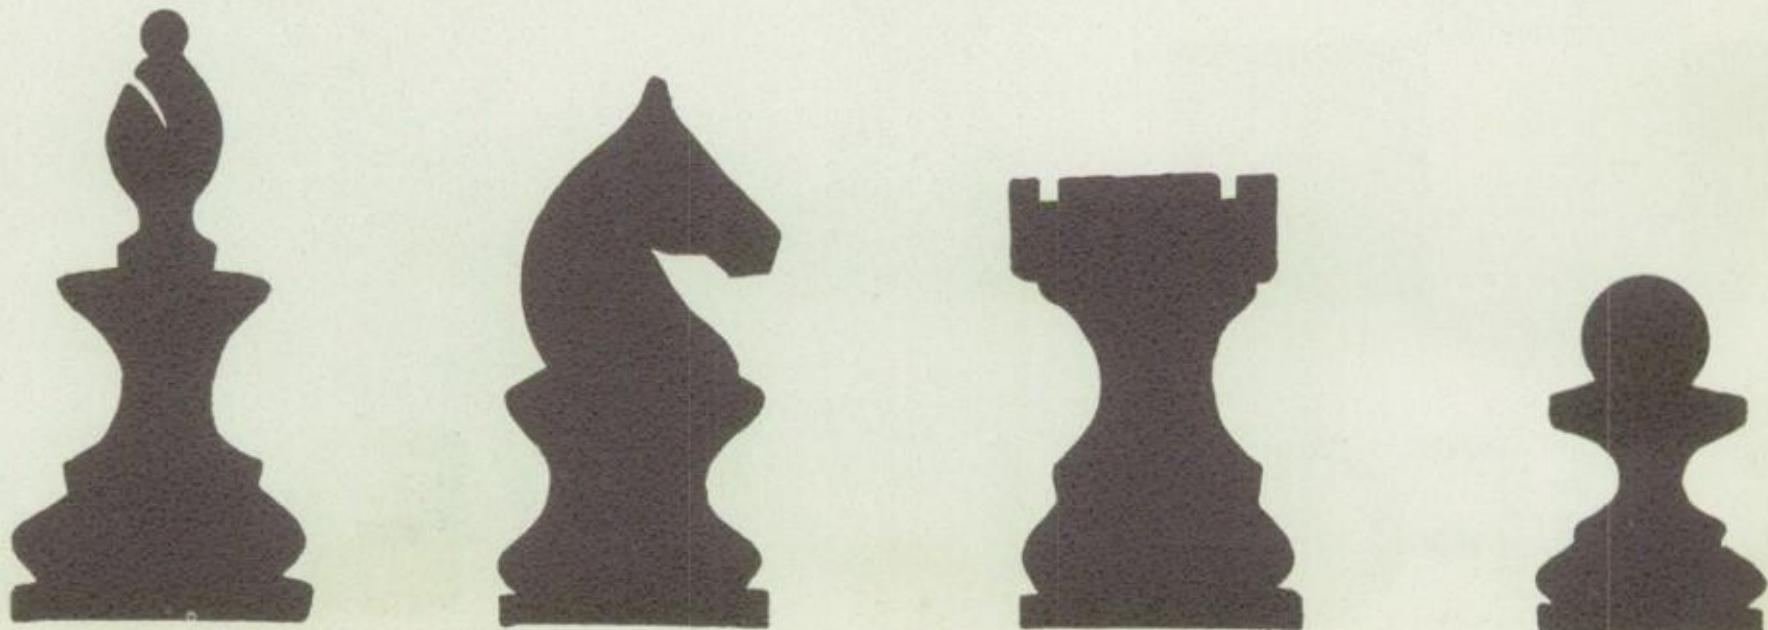

The similarities between chess pieces moving over the chess board and students and administrators circulating around the halls of Cooley, offer an interesting theme for the 1960-1961 Castellan. In order to unite the book, each section is represented by a chess piece. The administration, as the highest authority, represents the king. The queen, being a versatile and protective piece, represents the counselors and faculty. The seniors represent the rook, a piece which progresses in straight paths, pawns — the underclassmen. With all activities under the direction of the administration, the special events section represents the king's bishop. Similarly, the clubs, sponsored by faculty members, act as the queen's bishop.

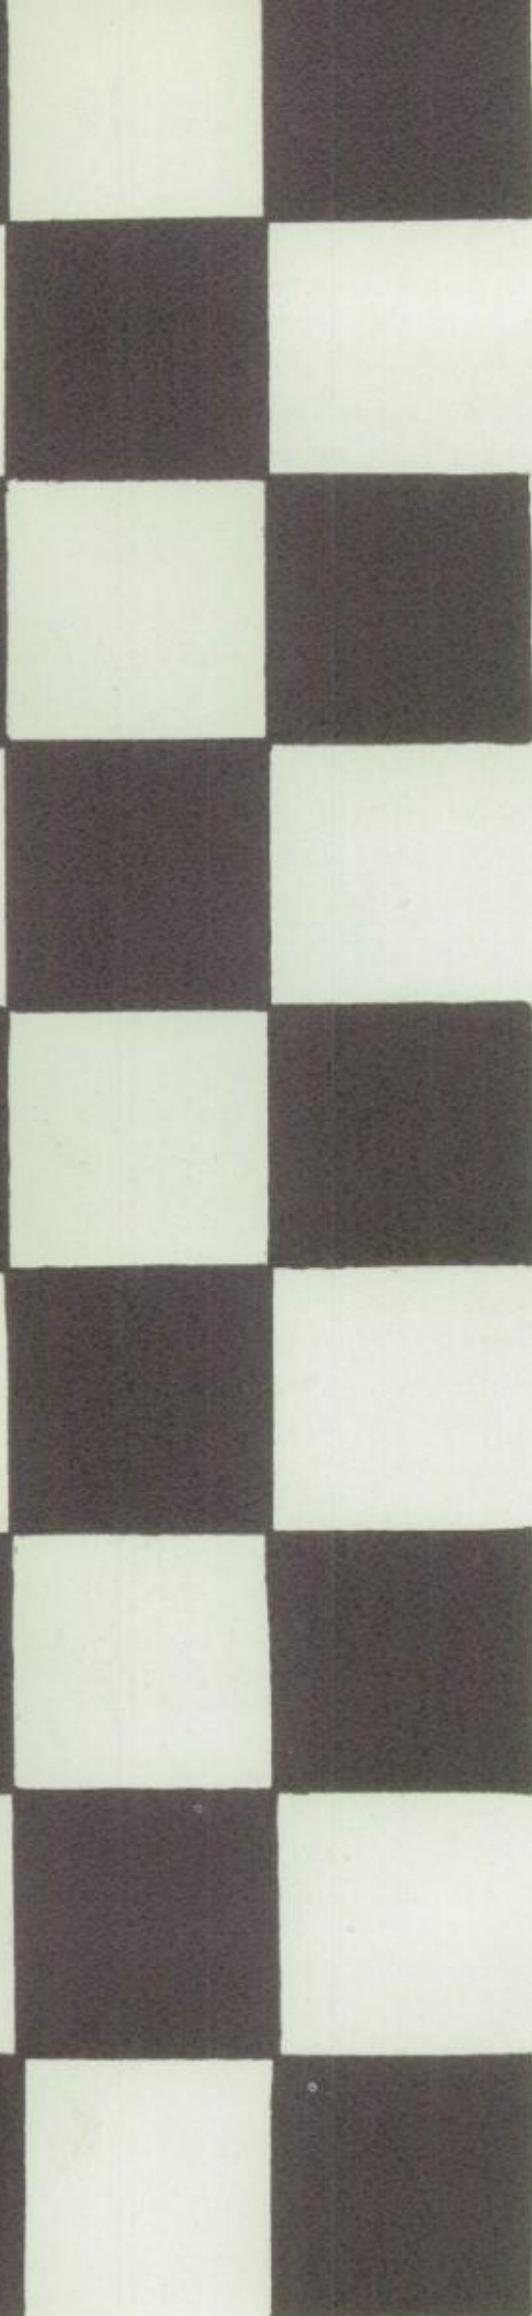

As you read through the Castellan, imagine the school year as being represented by a game of chess. Aided by a well-trained staff, students are coached in the rules and various plays which will be a necessity when they enter into the real competition of life. Athletes, while developing physical abilities, are supported by enthusiastic crowds. Clubs provide the chessman with new moves in social and character development. Vitality and interest are created by the special events such as dances, trips, and assemblies.

Several members of Cooley's student body have consented to write introductions for the various sections of the book. Through their fine work, the Castellan theme becomes a reality which reviews the past plays.

As all chess games come to an end, so must our game. For some it is the end of the school year, 1960-61, while others have completed their high school careers. As you reminisce over the year which is recorded in this book, I hope you are able to conclude that this year has presented a challenging game which was fairly played with successful application of the rules, resulting in many proud and fond memories.

Mary Jean Hess
Editor

The game of chess has a variety of special plays which supplement the normal routine and provide diversity in the game. These moves can be compared to the special events which occur throughout the school year. An active student does more than attend classes; he participates in various unique moves which help him to emerge victorious.

Besides the familiar school scenes, Cooley provides many other paths of interest over which a piece can move. In way of lively entertainment are the semi-annual 12B-play productions. Throughout the year many enjoyable evenings are spent at a wide variety of dances sponsored by school organizations.

The daily schedules are often enhanced with assemblies ranging in appeal from light humor to serious concentration. After hours, enthusiastic players go all out in support of their teams and often are rewarded by getting into championship competition.

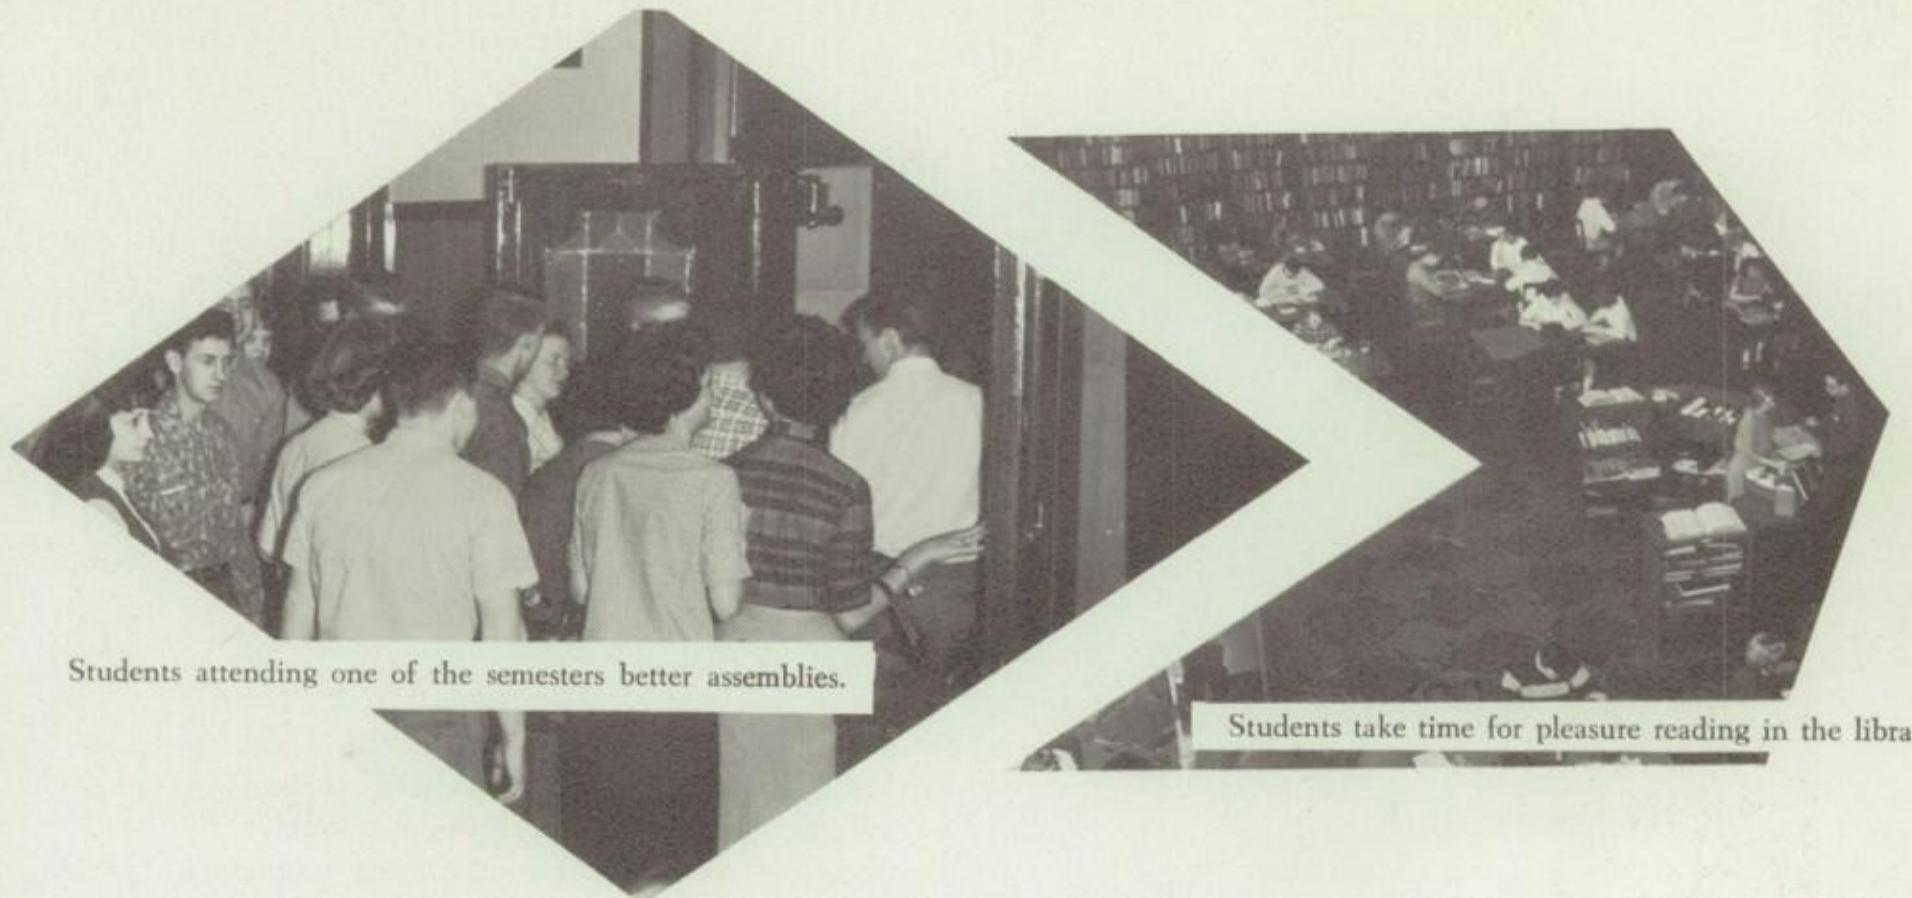

Added to all these events are the long endurance plays which for Cooley students represent various lengthy trips. The first event is a fun-packed, frolicking weekend which is a privilege belonging only to Juniors. However, later in the school year the Seniors take their week-long jaunt to Washington and New York. Finally, there is the opportunity of a week in Mexico which is open to all interested prospects. These trips provide not only social but also educational coaching and help students gain direction.

Just as each chessman depends upon the backing of his team, so do our extra activities require the whole-hearted support of the student body. As long as an interest is maintained, our game will continue to remain interesting and challenging.

In the same way that chessman move from square to square on a chessboard, students are able to move from country to country on student exchange programs. Alyce Wilson, a Cooley student, lived in New Zealand for six months on the American Field Service Program. She attended school there and lived as part of the Holgate family. Hideo Sato, a Japanese representative, who came to the United States a year ago, will graduate from Cooley in June. Jake Roos, the representative from Holland, is here under the auspices of the International Christian Youth Exchange Program. Jake will spend one year here before returning to Holland. Jake will also participate in the June graduation exercises. Through these exchange programs, the students learn the customs and language of people of other lands.

Hideo Sato (Japan), Jake Roos (Holland), and Alyce Wilson (United States) point to their home countries on the globe.

Like the king about whom all plans and activities of the chess game revolve, our principal and his administration are the focal point of our organization and the designers of the school curriculum. In chess the queen is a chief protectress and often displays greater versatility in her plays as she strives to maintain a winning position in the game. Cooley's patient sincere faculty operates in a like manner in that they use a variety of talents while assisting students and the administration in a victorious game.

Mr. Emmons, Cooley's principal, and the assistant principal, Miss Delbridge and Mr. Meyers, are indispensable for they must see that all the plays are properly made and executed. As the ranking personnel, they must accept the vast responsibilities involved in their work.

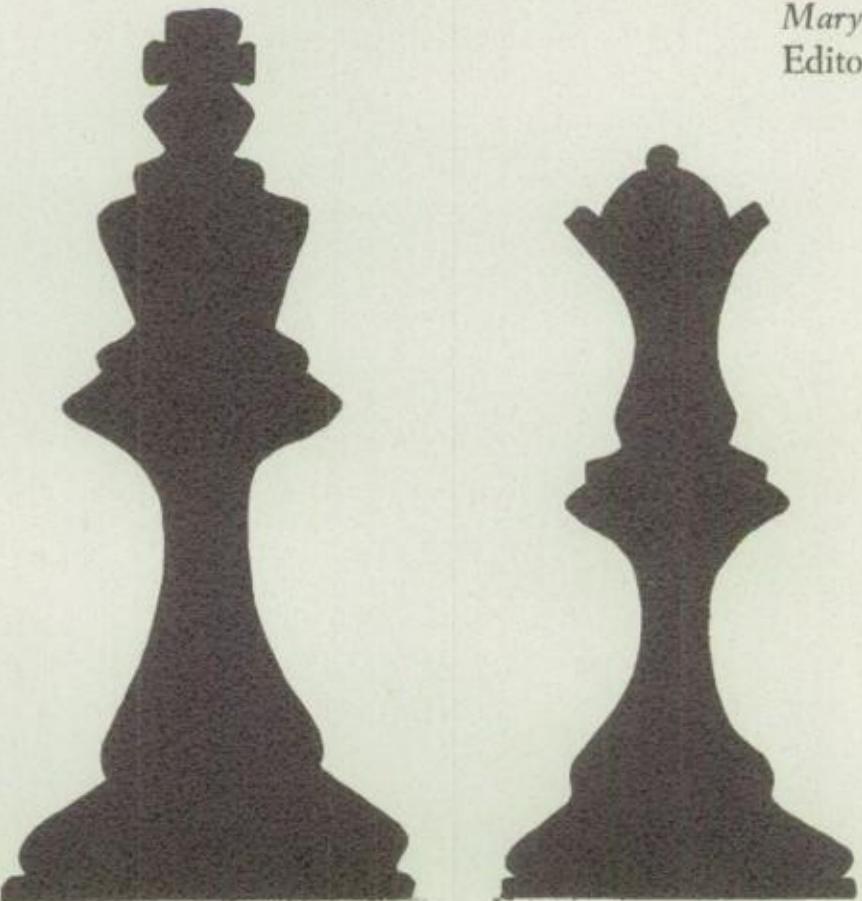

The results of the wisdom and experience of these top administrators reflects in Cooley's faculty who thus perform their tasks with greater precision. These dedicated people patiently coach students on the correct rules and necessary knowledge needed to become victors of the game.

In the guidance and protective areas are the eight counselors who render valuable services to pupils throughout their game at Cooley. These men and women aid students in discovering the variety of paths which will open to them following graduation.

Mention must also be made of the unobtrusive workers at Cooley. These include the office and lunchroom staffs and the custodians and engineers. These people make our school a pleasant and functional institution. Our school is also fortunate in having the assistance of several other professional people such as the visiting and resource teachers, and the school nurse.

With the capable staff and faculty body, our administration has the strength to be very successful. All these successes are passed on to the student and the chess game is able to run smoothly and victoriously.

ADMINISTRATION

In Memoriam

Claude Snarey

In Grateful Acknowledgement Of His Faithful
Years Of Service To Cooley
1932 - 1960

Sadly missed by faculty and students is Claude Snarey of the Health Education Department who passed away June 16, 1960 after serving 27 years as coach at Cooley. Few Detroit high school coaches developed as many track champions as Claude Snarey. Born in Blissfield, Michigan, he attended Jackson High School where he became the outstanding athlete in the school's history with a total of 18 letters, four each in track, football, basketball, and baseball, plus two in swimming. Enlisting in the army in 1917, Mr. Snarey served overseas during World War I. After his discharge he entered Michigan Normal College and finished with eight letters. His greatest thrill as a competitor came at the 1926 Drake Relays, when he ran a 48.7 quarter mile in the mud to help Normal defeat Iowa in the medley relay. After graduation he moved to Detroit to handle teams at Western, Central, and Eastern. While coaching at Eastern from 1930 to 1932 he developed two cross-country team champions as well as the metropolitan League indoor and outdoor track titleholders for 1932. His teams were even more successful at Cooley. They won the city outdoor title in 1938-39-43-44-46-47, besides five cross-country crowns and three indoor titles before the indoor meet was dropped in 1943. They also won several Wayne Relay championships. Retiring from track to coach golf, he had three more championship teams. In addition to coaching, Mr. Snarey was president of the Livonia School Board at the time of his death. His unselfish service, which extended beyond his athletic duties, and his energetic personality are sincerely missed, but will always be remembered.

As principal, Owen A. Emmons has the responsibility of maintaining a sound educational program at Cooley, as well as representing secondary education to the community. It is his job to set the policies and standards which will meet the requirements of the Board of Education and be adequate to prepare the student for his future years. Working closely with parents and teachers he presents our school to the public. He is a salesman and youth counselor combined. In charge of the school twenty-four hours a day, twelve months a year, Mr. Emmons is responsible for the protection of the building as well as the students and faculty. He takes a personal interest in a student's application for college and a graduate's recommendation for employment or the armed forces. His open door, welcome handshake, friendly encouragement, and wise counsel mean a great deal to the students and the faculty here at Cooley.

The duties of the assistant principal are divided and placed upon Miss Helen Delbridge and Mr. Alfred V. Meyers. It is their job to enroll new students, arrange special assemblies, manage the twelve lobby showcases, sponsor the senior classes, assign special duties to the faculty and oversee the many other administrative problems which arise daily. Mr. Meyers sponsors the January class and Miss Delbridge the June class. An essential part of their responsibilities is the co-ordination of the school-sponsored student activities, the administration of the rapidly expanding testing program, and the assistance to students seeking scholarships or college admittance. Although they have a great number of duties to perform, their most important job is to inculcate in Cooley students the desire to do well in their studies and to continue their education into the advanced fields of learning.

Counselors

The eight counselors of Cooley have a wide range of responsibilities. Conferences with parents concerning a student's work are very common. Some of the more important duties of a counselor consist of answering the students' many questions, helping the students make plans of work for their years at high school, obtaining assignments for absent pupils, and interpreting and recording special examinations such as the College Board and Scat Step tests.

The counselor's job does not end after a student graduates. They are often called upon to write recommendations for jobs, for entrants to college, and for scholarship applications. The counselors also visit various colleges during the school year and confer with Cooley graduates who are attending that particular college. The counselor's job is not an easy one. Their guidance comes at a difficult stage in life for the student. It takes a great deal of patience and understanding to see their students mature and develop into trustworthy citizens.

A thorough knowledge of the rules of chess plus the ability to use these rules intelligently enables one to achieve the main goal of the game. The English Department's main objectives are to help students to thoroughly understand the laws that govern the use of the English language and to be able to use them intelligibly.

This year, a reading program was launched with five remedial classes in the ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades, and two accelerated classes in the twelfth grade. Although the reading classes were very small this year, Mr. Hohner, department head, anticipates significant results from these classes.

The goal of a chess game is to call "checkmate", to conquer the opposition. The goal of the English Department is to help the students master the English language and its literary works.

Mathematics Department

Cooley's progressive Math Department, like a chess game, has initiated several changes in curriculum and technique during the past year. The new equipment such as slide rules, three dimensional geometric models, blackboard stencils, an opaque projector, and many modern reference books are similar to new moves in that they help students to win a better education for themselves.

Last September, an experimental class of the Yale Study Program in Modern Advanced Algebra was initiated. A special test will be given in June to both the Yale study group and a regular advanced algebra class to determine if the new course has any advantages. The newest move, also in the experimental stage, is a course in Math Analysis which was designed to challenge Cooley students to strive for higher goals. The classrooms took on a new look as file cabinets and modern desks were added. Demonstration tables where story problems can be seen as well as heard are also part of the new teaching technique. Although new ideas and techniques are continuously developing, the rules of math, as those of chess, remain the same. The ultimate goals of chess are similar to those of the math student — to win the game, to emerge successful.

Science

Department

Plans in a chess game are constantly changing, as advancement across the board brings the players closer to their goals. In step with this change, the Science Department headed by Mr. Harvey Brand offers courses that prepare students to live intelligently in a new, advanced, and constantly changing world. Biology, chemistry, and physics, as well as physiography and physiology, offer the student a variety of scientific knowledge ranging from the dissection of a frog to the analysis of chemical compounds. These various classes give students an opportunity to gain an understanding of the elements of life from flowers to chemicals, the human body to atoms. Cooley's Science Department is well prepared to assist students in moving closer to their goals in the great game of life.

Social Studies Department

The countries of the world, like the pieces in a chess game, are constantly changing. New governments are being formed and new rulers are moving into power. The chief aim of the social studies department is to help the students to understand the causes and results of these changes in government. By studying the past, the present and future become more significant. Similarly, mastering the many rules of chess that have been handed down through the centuries enables one to play a better, more challenging game.

The many problems that arise each day affect people in all parts of the world. No spot on the map is so remote or hidden that it does not feel the increasing pressures of the present day situation. In much the same way, every man on a chess board should have a significant move. Every move of every man, no matter how trivial, is important and could affect the success of the game.

With an understanding of the changes and a realization of the importance of each move, a person can master chess or the problems of the world today.

Foreign Language Department

When chess was invented centuries ago, its pattern was similar to a war game played between neighboring nations. In much the same fashion, language is a way of communicating between countries. As there are many rules to chess, so are there many languages offered to Cooley students. French, Spanish, and Latin are the languages offered during regular school; but after-school classes in Russian, German, and Ancient and Modern Greek have been made available. A new language lab has been opened to aid the students of French and Spanish in pronunciation and is proving very helpful in teaching the students to speak the language more fluently and effectively. The teachers of the Foreign Language Department, with the assistance of this modernized laboratory, are making the languages easier to learn and more interesting to the students. Similarly, with a proficient instructor and a knowledge of the new techniques, chess is apt to be more easily mastered and to be greatly enjoyed.

Fine Arts Department

Unique among the many courses offered at Cooley are those of the Fine Arts Department. These courses provide the students with a background in the principles and histories of the arts and teach them to translate inspirations into realities. The ability to play chess well develops in a manner similar to the ability to create.

Distinctive tastes and the ability to perform the specific technical skills are developed in those students who possess an appreciation for the finer arts. Just as in chess, the players develop certain individual moves and technical proficiency.

Artistic, instrumental, and vocal training is given to all interested students, and development of individual talents is encouraged.

The Art and Music Departments combine their efforts annually to present the Spring and Christmas Concerts. Only through practice and a sincere effort can a person develop his abilities in chess or in the artistic or musical fields.

Health Education Department

One who plays chess could not help but see how well the theme of chess and the objectives of the health education program harmonize.

In the mechanics of chess as in athletic skills, mental ability and alertness have a great deal to do with winning the game. After the fundamental skills are learned and mastered, one devises his own tactics and moves at the greatest point of vantage, achieving success or failure from his gambits. Similarly with athletics, after one has learned how to play the particular sport well, he then develops individual abilities to obtain success.

The chess men working together is essential, just as a well balanced team must do to achieve success. The moves of each must harmonize to attain the supreme goal, victory.

Commercial Department

To acquire keen alertness and individual skill is the goal of every chess player. These same factors are essential to the student who wishes to make a career in the business world. Typing, shorthand, retailing, bookkeeping, and business law are available to all students. A second aim of the chess player is to develop his precision and accuracy so that he may win. The goal of the student who studies various business courses, like the chess player, is to improve his talent so as to better himself. Under the expert guidance of Mr. Harvey Meyer, department head, students learn to manipulate business machines and equipment to the best advantage.

Chess is a game open to all who wish to match their wits. Business subjects are offered to those enrolled in college preparatory courses as well as business courses. To take such courses as typing and notehand, a combination of longhand and shorthand, is beneficial to college preparatory students. A knowledge of this material will be of great assistance to him in college. Alertness, individual skill, precision and accuracy are important in a game of chess or in a business education class.

Vocational Department

The elective courses that are offered by the Vocational Department are as varied and far-reaching as the many and varied plays of the chess player. Cooley students receive instructions in practical skills which range from shop math and drafting to clothing and home nursing. Cooley's Vocational Department is currently being expanded by the addition of a new electronics laboratory which will play an important part in preparing students for a future in the space age. This will offer new and better moves on the part of the student in his studies. The Vocational Department offers students an opportunity to develop their minds as well as mechanical skills in creating useful projects as one would develop plays, plans, and skills in chess. The basic aim of the Vocational Department is to guide and help students to become independent and worthy citizens through the formation of good habits — not only in technical skills but in their mental conduct. These same skills and mental abilities are used by chess players while advancing across the board.

Cooley's calorie counter

As a bishop in chess is an essential playing piece, so are clubs a necessary part of Cooley. Designed to promote interest in many non-academic fields, these 41 organizations succeed in providing each student with knowledge and ideas not presented in regular classroom work. Service clubs such as the school publications, Student Council, Sportsmanship Council and the audio-visual club are given a chance to prove that giving as well as receiving can be enjoyable. Vocations are explored by several organizations while others are designed to stimulate an interest in culture. Still others, such as the language and athletic groups, seek to more fully develop class room training.

Although many of these clubs are planned to encourage one phase of a student's ability, many common goals are possessed by all. Promoting leadership, character, co-operation and service, each aims in addition to give fun and satisfaction. In developing these traits, each student at Cooley becomes better equipped to strive for individual goals and ideals, while obtaining a well-rounded school life.

Just as the king's bishop is supervised by the king, so Cooley's organizations are regulated by the administration. While encouraging the various groups to develop individualism, the teachers and principals are always available to give advice and supervision when necessary. Many educators of our school give unselfishly of their time and talents to guide our clubs and activities, and to them we owe a tremendous debt of gratitude.

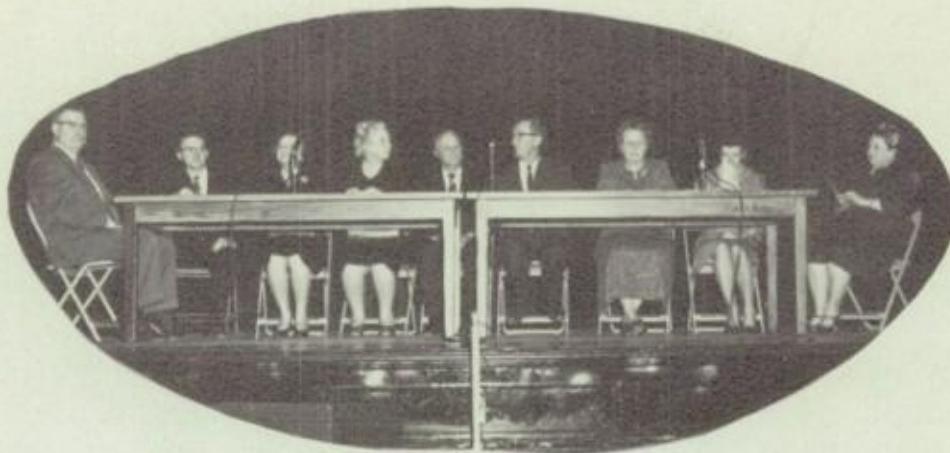

Another phase of Cooley's associations is the sponsoring of schoolwide activities. All school dances are planned and carried out by the club members, which provides valuable insight into large scale management. Functions such as Operation Green and student exchanges encourage good relationships between clubs and with other schools as well.

With the graduating of present club officers and members opportunities are continually being made for underclassmen to fill their positions. It is our sincerest wish that each and every student will consider the many values of belonging to a school-sponsored organization, and by joining those which meet personal needs and interests will develop a richer and more interesting life.

The audience listens attentively as Dr. Ira Smith of the University of Michigan speaks to parents and students on "College Night."

A token of gratitude is extended to the members of the Cooley Parents' Club for their guidance in this past year. The teachers and students of Cooley greatly appreciate the members of the Parents' Club sponsoring their many organizations and social activities.

An open house, at which the parents and teachers have a chance to meet socially, is held each semester. This meeting without the presence of the students serves to promote better parent-teacher relations.

General meetings, held once a month in the auditorium, are open to the parents of all Cooley students. The students themselves are urged to attend these meetings also.

Student Council, Cooley's

Throughout the semester, Cooley's governing body, the Student Council, attempts to settle the various problems that arise each day. The council also plans and sponsors a wide range of activities.

The Student Council consists of representatives from each grade, four each from the ninth and tenth grades, six from the eleventh, and eight from the twelfth grade.

In the line of social activities, the council presents the "Pigskin Shuffle," a dance which highlights the football season and "Fantasma," a semi-formal, inter-school dance.

Selling tickets to athletic events and operating the Used Book Store are also part of the many activities undertaken by the Student Council.

Donna Brittain smiles appreciatively as Mr. Emmons hands her her certificate of membership to the National Honor Society.

Honor is bestowed each semester on seniors possessing high standards of scholarship and leadership, when they are chosen by their teachers and classmates as part of the National Honor Society.

The impressive induction ceremony serves to introduce the new members to the scholarship, leadership, service, and character goals this national organization strives to maintain.

A desire for greater achievement is stimulated by the hope of obtaining membership to this honorary society.

Black Hi-Y

Cooley High School is one of the few high schools in the Detroit area that offers its students a wide selection of Hi-Y's from which to choose. Black Hi-Y is one of the five Hi-Y's that Cooley boys may join in their sophomore year.

Under the supervision of Mr. Krick, the members enjoy a wide range of activities. Besides sending two representatives on the United Nations tour each summer, the boys hold various parties and joint meetings throughout the year. Black combines their efforts with those of other Hi-Y's each spring to plan and promote the Senior Prom. Selling tickets, arranging the showcase, handling the publicity and arranging for the band and the rental of the hall are the responsibilities undertaken by the five groups.

Climaxing the year's activities is Black's annual May dance, "Rhythms in Rose".

John Ferguson, Black's new president, discusses plans for the annual spring dance "Rhythms in Rose" as the members listen attentively and give suggestions for decorations.

Cardinal Hi-Y

Gary Karasick, Cardinal's new president, presides over a joint meeting.

Cardinal Hi-Y is busy throughout the school year sponsoring a wide variety of activities. High on the list of fond memories of the year's events for the club are the annual fall hayride and their winter skating party. The Hi-Y also participated in the United Nations program last summer sponsoring two members for the trip to New York. For the spring semester, Cardinal has planned "Spring Interlude," a semiformal dance to be held early in May.

Jim Albers and Dan Darnell vigorously participate in the annual fall clean-up project.

Heading the list of Eagle's many activities are their fund raising projects. This year the club chose colorfully decorated Christmas tape and peanuts to sell. In a true feeling of charity, Eagle gave their annual Thanksgiving food basket to a needy family.

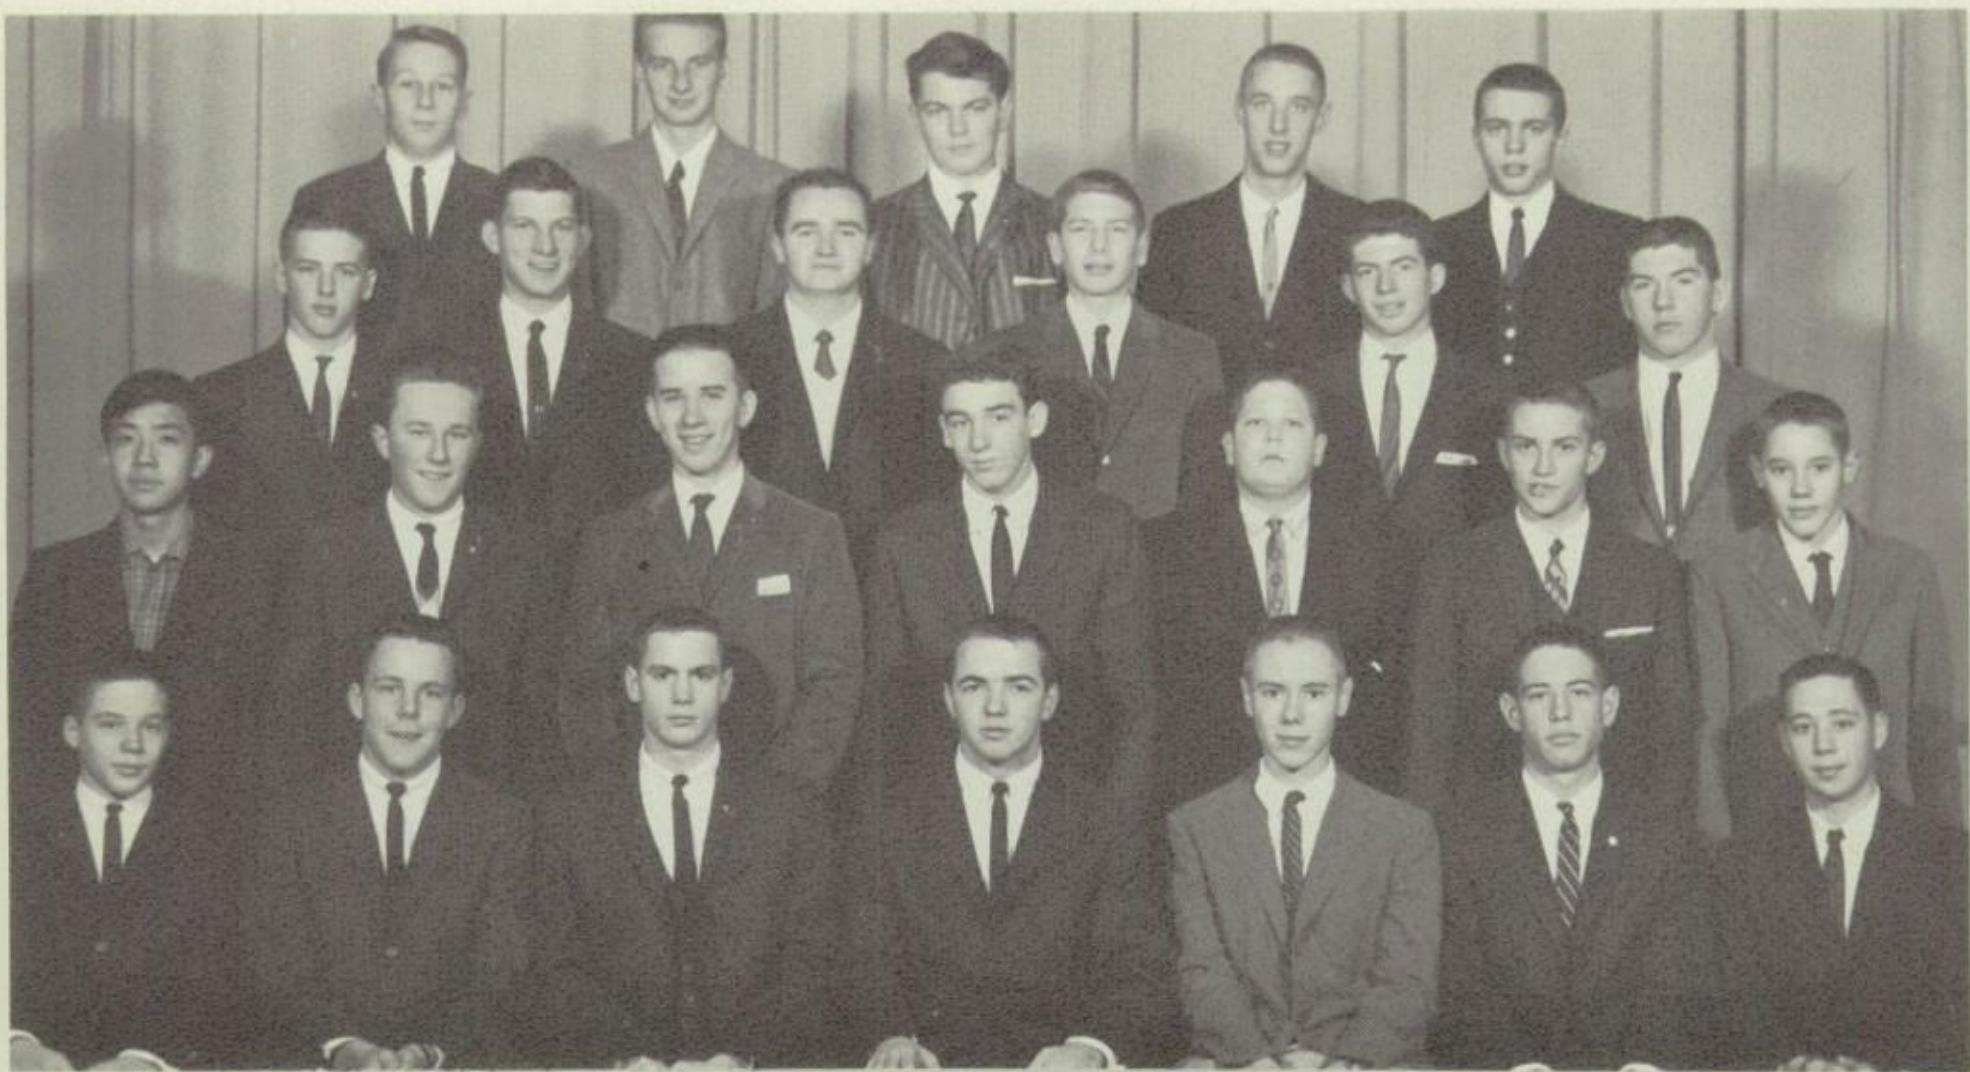

As with most Hi-Y's, the highlight of the year's activities is the giving of their annual dance. The boys chose "Mystic Green" for the title of their dance this year and made it a turnout.

Kari Kilpelainen, Eagle's new president, presides as plans are discussed for "Mystic Green."

Eagle presents turnout and is whole heartedly supported by Cooleyites.

Camping out and participating in the United Nations trip are samples of the many activities enjoyed by Lancer Hi-Y members this past year. A doughnut sale, a pennant sale, and their dance, "Blue Hawaii," were the Hi-Y's fund raising projects.

Other events, under the guidance of Mr. Stellberger, Lancer's sponsor, were an equipment exchange, a showcase arrangement for the senior prom, and their annual Thanksgiving food basket donated to a needy family.

George Grant, Lancer's new president, presides over meeting.

Throughout the year, Lincoln Hi-Y members are planning and enjoying a wide range of activities. As fund raising projects, the boys sell colorful decals and pennants and give their annual dance. This year, the boys chose "Kupids Kaper" as the theme of the dance. Outside of school, the members enjoy athletic events with other Hi-Ys, hayrides, picnics, and joint meetings with the consolidated Y-Teens. Through the year's activities members of Lincoln Hi-Y work hard to make their Hi-Y a success.

Y-teens Benefit School and Community

Gayle Ryan, queen of the "Witches Walk," smiles happily as her court, Marilyn Burns, Mary Lou Papier, and Margaret Jones look on.

During the past year, the efforts of the Cooley Y-Teens have made great strides in benefiting the school and community. Such activities as the "Witches Walk" their Halloween turnout, the Easter Service, a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family, and a charity program called, "Pennies for Doctor Dooley," have all been sponsored by this organization.

Meetings are held every other Wednesday, ninth hour in room 220.

To qualify for membership in the Y-Teens, one must write a letter to the club explaining the reasons for seeking membership; and meetings must be attended regularly.

Carole Hudspeth, Inter-Club Council representative, gives report at Y-Teen meeting.

The Castellan staff, under the excellent supervision of Mr. Aneda, works hard the year round in order to produce a new and entertaining year book.

Many hours of planning dummies and layouts, preparing copy, and assembling the finished page with pictures and copy, are all steps in putting together the Castellan.

The goal of the staff is to feature the students and teachers participating in the events and activities at Cooley. The Castellan staff strives to picture all students and to present the graduating senior with a record of the fond memories of his senior year.

Throughout the year, one small group keeps Cooleys' students up to date on current activities around the school. This group is the Cardinal staff and their tool is the newspaper. Every three weeks, when the Cardinal comes out, students can catch up on recent school happenings.

The paper is student operated and functions smoothly under its capable editors to bring to the students of Cooley news about school sports, clubs, dances, elections, administrative activities and other student programs.

Under the fine supervision of Mr. Chapin, the Cardinal renders an invaluable service to all Cooley-ites.

GAA Brings Together Sports-minded Girls

Joy McVittie, GAA's new president, discusses plans for the splash party. Bertha Pipkin participates in the discussion.

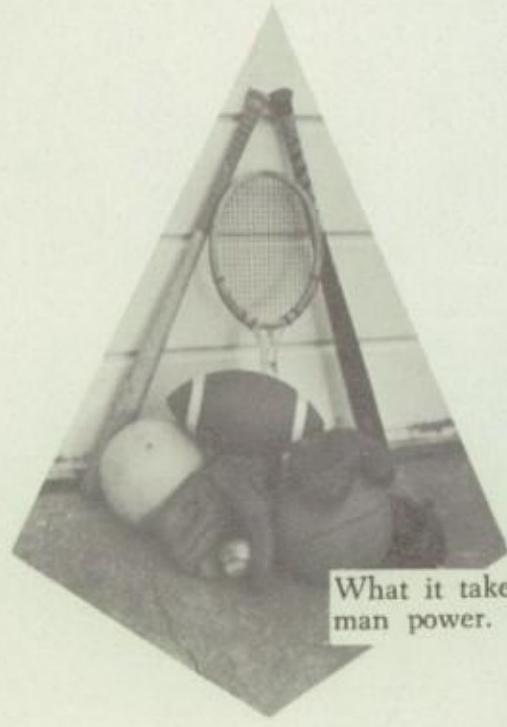

The Girls' Athletic Association, commonly referred to as the G.A.A., is a school club whose primary purpose is to promote good sportsmanship and to bring together into one group all sports-minded girls. To qualify as a member, a girl must have earned her varsity or reserve letter. At all of the home games or meets, the G.A.A. girls are there selling food and candy to the anxious spectators. Their spirit and pep serve as a real inspiration for the entire student body in supporting Cooley's teams.

Sports Council

Objective: To Promote Better Sportsmanship

The main objective of the Sports Council is to promote better sportsmanship among the students and faculty at Cooley.

The Council is affiliated with the National Sports Council, which is represented in all the metropolitan Detroit high schools.

As all members are officers of clubs and athletic organizations, good scholastic, citizenship, and leadership qualities must be maintained.

The Sportsmanship Council sponsors a wide variety of activities, including picnics, hay-rides, visits to other schools, a fall drop-in, and a student exchange program with ten other Detroit area high schools.

I.M.S.S.C.

Better relations among students of the Detroit area high schools is the purpose of the I.M.S.S.C. or Inter-Metropolitan Student Sportsmanship Council. Representatives from high school sport councils meet once a month to discuss problems concerning sportsmanship in their schools.

While arriving at possible answers to these problems, the students became acquainted with other members and their respective schools.

Cooley's representatives selected for the I.M.S.S.C. are members of the Sports Council, which consists of all the officers of the many clubs and organizations.

FTA Assists Students

Barbara Hunt, Cooley student, gives much needed help in an academic subject.

In past semesters, the Future Teacher's Club has rendered an important service to benefit the students and the faculty at Cooley. Private tutoring in a wide variety of courses has been made available to any pupil needing help. These extra out-of-school lessons lighten the load of the teachers, aid the students, and give valuable teaching experiences to the members.

For those interested in the teaching profession and wishing to join the association, membership may be attained by applying and then attending five meetings.

FNC Prepares for Future Years

Dorothea Credit demonstrates the proper technique for taking a temperature as Barbara Boucha, a willing patient, and the members of the home nursing class, look on.

At the Veteran's Hospital, the Future Nurses listen to a lecture on the rewards of serving humanity.

Girls at Cooley High School who dream of someday walking along hospital corridors in crisp uniforms and bright white caps belong to the Future Nurses Club.

They prepare themselves for their future years of service by visiting various hospitals in and around Detroit, serving as nurses' aids, reading to elderly patients, and by entertaining at children's hospitals.

Many of the girls have found the nursing profession fun and exciting, and they look forward to taking an active part in their chosen profession.

By helping the Cooley students better understand their subjects, the members of the See and Hear Club render a valuable aid. The organization operates the visual aid equipment used in almost every class at Cooley.

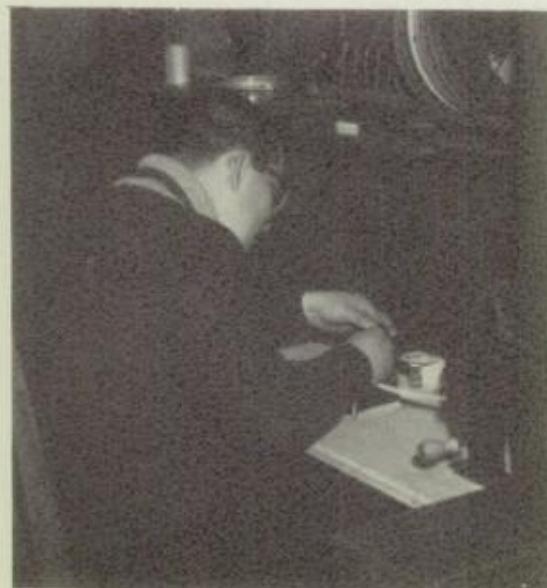

The members bought new projectors, carts and screens this year to keep their overlabored equipment up to date. These purchases were made possible by selling magazine subscriptions.

It wasn't all work though, for the group enjoyed picnics in the fall and spring, a Christmas dinner, a toboggan party, and a trip to Cinerama.

Vogue Club Sets Example of Proper Dress

Nancy Warnock, president, and Judy Williams, vice-president, discuss plans for Vogue's May fashion show.

To set an example of the proper dress at school is the goal of the fashion-minded girls of the Vogue Club. Each spring and fall, the girls present a fashion show, introducing new styles for school, date, and casual wear. Cooley is one of the few schools in the city that has a Vogue Club and is fortunate in that it has a club whose objective is to introduce and encourage the proper dress in school.

Any girl who is interested in new fashions and the latest styles and has taken a semester of retailing is invited to apply for membership.

Freedom of Expression — Our Goal

Interpretation and expression best describe the purpose of the Dance Composition class. The girls in this modern dance group are chosen for their willingness and ability. They strive to express an idea or an emotion through movement and music. This small group of exceptionally talented girls, under the guidance of Miss Jordan, performs at the Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, Spring Dance Program and at children's programs.

Miss Jordan, Cooley's new dance instructor, assembles her finest.

Being one of Cooley's serious minded clubs, its major objectives are not only to experiment and learn, but also to arouse the interest of other Cooley students in electronics.

Because our world is so rapidly changing, the knowledge these boys attain will help them to prepare for their chosen field of electronics.

Science Club

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Waipa, keeps our future scientists busy with a wide variety of interesting activities.

The members conduct unusual scientific experiments, give open demonstrations, and go on field trips to chemical corporations, hospital research laboratories, and other various foundations.

Subject matter covered includes sections on physics, chemistry, physiology, biology, and earth science.

Any student who is interested in scientific work and wishes to make his future in this field can apply directly to the club for membership.

Air Raid Corps Stands Ready to Assist

The Cooley Air Raid Corps is prepared to make an emergency move at any time. Mr. Mason Tyler, sponsor, and his staff are prepared to take immediate action in any extreme situation which might arise during school hours.

Checking the rooms during fire drills to make certain everyone has left, checking basement passageways and corridors, and keeping general order during air raid drills are only a few of the ways this organization serves the school.

In the event of a real air raid, or any state or nation-wide emergency, the Air Raid Corps would work with Civil Defense authorities to perform such jobs as preventing injuries and panic and aiding the wounded.

Cooley's Air Raid Corps stands ready to assist in any emergency.

Of the many fine voices in Cooley's music department, the best can be found in the Ensemble, Escorts, and Vocalettes. These three groups have participated in many outside engagements as well as in Cooley's own annual music events. The Ensemble, a mixed group under the direction of Mr. Keorper, is a well rounded assembly of carefully chosen voices. The Escorts, a self-gathered group, brings together four excellent male voices. Bright red vests are the trade mark of the Vocalettes, and under the direction of Mrs. Hutchins, this all-girl group represents Cooley's finest female voices.

Choir Strives to Achieve

Rich Tone and Quality

All members of the Cooley High School Choir must realize that they are expected to attend all outside rehearsals and engagements. In order to be a good member these obligations must be met. Each new member to the Choir takes this oath so that he may be well acquainted with the requirements.

The Choir is busy all year long with outside engagements as well as participating in school activities. Besides performing in the Christmas and Spring Concerts, the Choir sings at the commencement and in numerous assemblies.

This past year the Choir sang in a city music festival at Cobo Hall. Cooley was privileged to send one hundred students to the festival.

Directed by Miss Doris Lenz and Mr. Stewart Aptekar, the Cooley Choir strives to achieve a rich quality and tone so that each performance may be presented with the utmost perfection.

Concert Orchestra Strives for Excellence

When golden tones drift amidst down Cooley's corridors, the greatly enjoyed, but little appreciated concert orchestra busy practicing, is responsible. Besides playing at Cooley's many musical events throughout the year, this group has also been invited to participate in outside school engagements. Under the direction of Fred Shafe, these students, who possess an unusual amount of musical talent can take a score of music and transform it into a magic carpet of sound.

Practice makes perfect.

The Rook is able to move either horizontally or vertically on the chessboard. It is such versatility that makes him the second most valuable piece in the game. The Senior upon graduation is like the Rook in that he has come to a crossroad in life and many alternatives face him.

The graduate has met the challenge of the preceding four years of learning, socializing, participating, and planning. The school has provided the foundations on which our interests have broadened and on which our future is built. We have had the understanding and guidance that have enriched our knowledge and prepared us for the years to come.

Each move has been a part of a master plan for winning the game, the climax coming in the Senior year, when the action comes quickly and effectively. Every successful Senior event is progress on the road to victory, and one event follows another: campaigning and election of class officers, meeting the budget by producing the 12B play, earning the 12B breakfast, learning about our country on the Senior Trip, and frolicking on 12A Day and the Senior Prom. Finally, at commencement, the Senior can look back on his high school career with all its social activities and rewarding experiences and yet, the word commencement itself means that there is more ahead. The whole nation looks to us for the leadership that will be needed in the next half century. We Seniors are being called upon to take up the standards that the preceding generations have established and carry them high to a better life.

Like the Rook, we have different paths to choose from, but like all pieces we have only one purpose: to win the game.

GARY MALLETT

On Saturday, February 25, the faculty and fellow classmates of Robert A. Bunzeluk were grieved by news of his death. Robert, shortly after graduating in January, 1961, died of leukemia. He was released from the hospital only long enough to attend his graduation. Robert will be sadly missed by his friends.

Sports and chess, although seemingly unrelated, have many common characteristics. First, both have definite formations. In chess, the king, queen and other major pieces are lined in specific places behind the pawns. Football players have their own positions on the line and in the backfield. In baseball, outfielders, infielders, catcher, and pitcher are each stationed in a particular spot, the same being true in field hockey and basketball.

Another trait common in these areas is pattern. The over-all pattern of chess and sports like football, basketball, and baseball is the same — attack and defense. The games, themselves, have designs. Chess is played by moving the chessmen in specific directions and distances, and by manipulating his men in different ways, a player forms his patterns. Football players have specific assignments on various plays and the team plays the game by running through numerous plans. Many baskets in a game of basketball are the result of getting a man in shooting position by a pattern of well-executed screen plays and passes.

Not only is it similar to team sports, but chess bears resemblance to such individual sports as golf, swimming, tennis, and track. A chess player depends on his own resources, and participants in individual sports match their own strength and skill with others.

Finally, the same qualities are needed for success. Chess requires skill, imagination, and the ability to think, which attributes also play a very important part in sports. These are but a few examples, for an athlete is constantly called upon to use his physical and mental capabilities.

The 1960 Varsity Football team showed a spirit and determination to win which was inspired by Coach Parmentier and Cooley students as well. It was this spirit and strong will which pushed the gridders on to the Westside Championship. Although the team was defeated by Denby for the Public School Championship they displayed a fine spirit in the game.

The team had a very successful season with 7 straight wins with certain players contributing a great deal to the success. Having scored 18 touchdowns, half-back Doug Roberts became all state as well as all city. Other players achieving the title of all city were Doug Behnke, end, and defensive captain; Jim Lo Cicero, end; Dick Blazo, tackle; and Steve De Marco, center.

Both the team and coach agree that the 1960 goal of improvement was definitely reached.

Coach Eliowitz gives pointers to Lionel Endsley and John Spitz for busy season ahead.

The underclassmen of Cooley can be related to the pawns in a chess game. Though appearing relatively unimportant at first, they can make or break the game as it goes on. Although beginning cautiously, the timid freshman soon becomes exposed to the game and realizing the greater and more important moves that will face him in the future, he positions himself to be able to make the best accounting possible.

As a sophomore, he becomes involved in the game, making important moves into such activities as the Hi-Y's and Y-Teens which not only help him in his standing in the game, but also determine his fortune or failure in succeeding moves.

As the junior year approaches, so does one of the greatest decision points of the game. During this time, very important moves must be made by the student. He must plan future plays by attending Careers Unlimited and deciding if he should take the College Board Exams. In addition, he can move into any of the athletic fields and contribute seriously to the service of his school. The astute player realizes that his future moves depend upon the decisions made during this third year and the leadership he develops.

The outcome of the game will be decided in the perhaps most active and significant year of high school, the senior year. There all the fruits of the carefully planned gambits in time and efforts are expended to achieve victory—graduation.

going to live better than ever before... electrically!

High Holidays

Centus, Jr.

when

1940

1941

You, today's graduate, are entering an exciting new era where you will live better than any generation has ever lived before—the era of all-electric living.

Your all-electric home for example, thanks to time-saving electric equipment and appliances, will allow you and your family more time to enjoy life together.

Your job will be smoother too. Electricity, in everything from office equipment to heavy machinery, will lighten your work—make it more enjoyable.

If you decide on further education, your field of study may well be related to electricity. Perhaps someday, as a scientist or technician, you will even lend your knowledge to further mold the all-electric world of tomorrow.

But wherever the future finds you, whatever your place in life, electricity will be there to help you live better than ever before—live better electrically.

IF YOU ARE GOING ON TO COLLEGE YOU NEED THESE FOLDERS

You will find these folders helpful in planning the financial part of your college career. The Plan folder tells how NBD loans money for college expenses with up to six years to repay in monthly instalments. Check List is a handy form for listing personal expenses so often overlooked when preparing a college budget. Typical costs are shown as a guide for figuring your own. Both or either folder will be mailed on request.

It's a pretty important decision, young lady—choosing your job.

Of course you'll want a good starting salary with the opportunity for regular increases, pleasant surroundings, paid vacations, a chance to make new friends and all the other things that will make your work enjoyable.

But you're probably looking for something beyond these benefits—a job with an opportunity for you to make a real contribution, and one that can give you pride and satisfaction in your accomplishments.

There may be a job like this for you at the telephone company.

You might qualify as a telephone operator, or a teller, a cashier, or a clerk—these are just some of the many interesting jobs other graduates from your school have found at Michigan Bell. And there's advancement in every one of these positions for the girl who's interested in getting ahead. What next? Why not visit Michigan Bell's Employment Office and see. We'll be looking for you.

Mass confusion occurs when the future teachers sign identification slips following their Castellan picture.

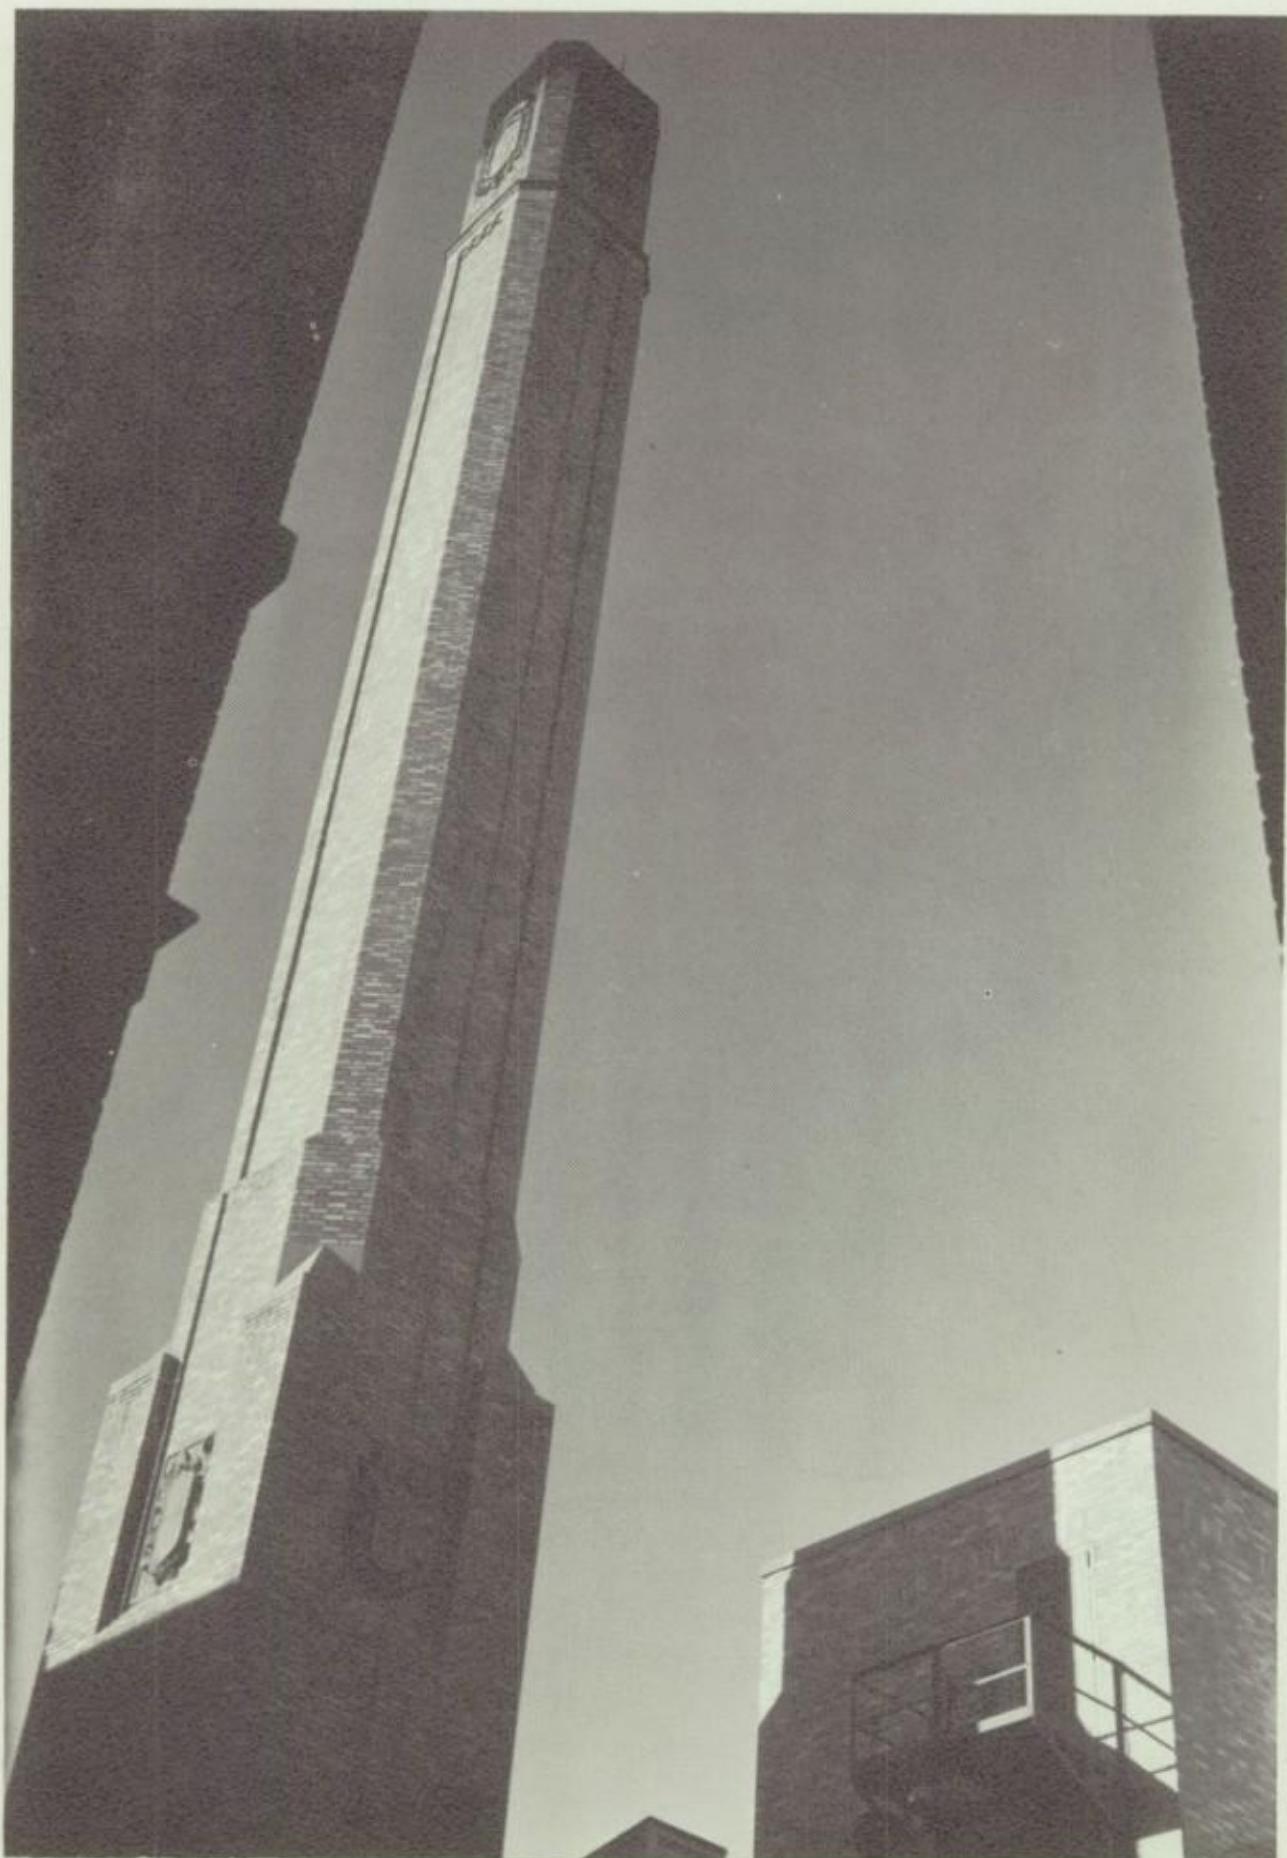

Cooley's gridders fight a rumble-tumble game and come up winning.

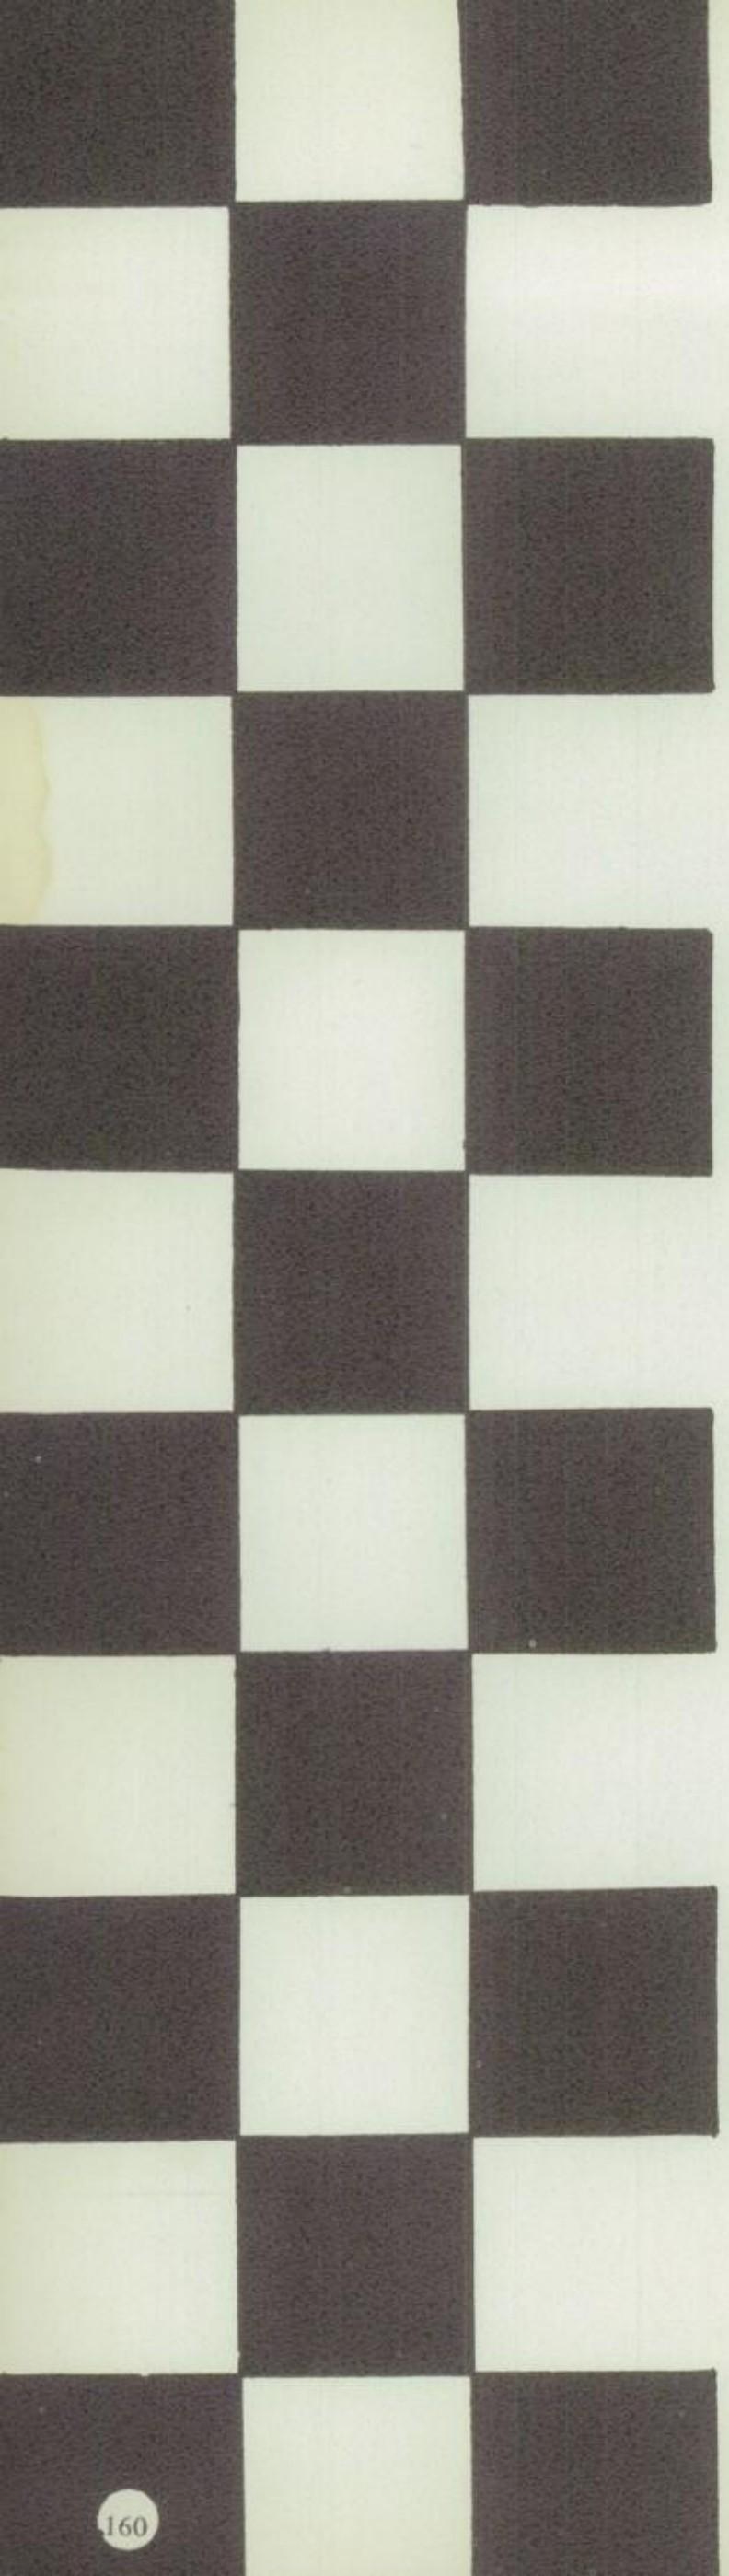

Couples gayly dance while others surround the band at the Pigskin Shuffle.

Another goal for us in an age-old game as Cooley vs. Redford.
